

San Mateo County Sheriff's Communication Unit

The San Mateo County Sheriff's Communications Unit (SCU) is one of ten (10) volunteer units that make up the Sheriff's Emergency Services Bureau (ESB). The ESB is comprised of over 400 plus sworn civilians who wish to volunteer their time to the Sheriff's Office and the citizens of San Mateo County. The Communications Unit is comprised of Amateur Radio operators who provide Communications and Logistical support during many different types of events and emergencies.

The Sheriff's Communications Unit is divided into three levels of membership: Full Member, Trainee Member & Aux Comm.

Full Member:

A full member is a communications volunteer who has completed the SCU training program, has passed a county background check and is qualified to deploy many of the communications vehicles and assets operated by the Sheriff's Office. They also participate in and rotate as net control for the San Mateo County Sheriff's ACS weekly net.

Trainee Member:

A trainee member is a communications volunteer who is training with the SCU to become a full member. They can participate in the same event and callouts as a full member but must be accompanied by at least one full member. They also participate in and occasionally assist with running the San Mateo County Sheriff's ACS weekly net.

Auxiliary Communicator (Aux Comm.):

An aux comm. member is a communications volunteer who would like to be affiliated with the SCU but may not want to participate in the entire program. They are encouraged to participate in trainings, meetings, events and the San Mateo County Sheriff's ACS weekly net. The main goal is to train and equip additional amateur communicators for use during community events, exercises and emergencies.
